

Metzler & Co.

London, England

- 1788 Valentin Metzler moves from Bingen on the Rhine, Germany to London and establishes a music shop
- 1794 at #344 Oxford St.; wind musical instrument maker and dealer
- 1816 son George Richard Metzler (1797-1867) joins the firm to become Metzler & Son; #105 Wardour St., London
- 1822 at #105 Wardour St.; piano forte maker, wind instrument maker & dealer
- 1833 now G. Metzler & Co. probably at the death of Valentin
- 1842 moves to #37 Great Marlborough St.
- 1858 G. R. Metzler granted patent #1836 for improved helicon instrument later called the sonorophone
- 1862 Metzler wins London expo prize for brass instruments; #35-38 Great Marlborough St.
- 1866 George retires and succeeded by son George Thomas (1835-1879)
- 1867 George forms partnership with Frank Chappell who develops a dealership for Mason & Hamlin organs from Boston
- 1875 record of Boosey & Co. selling a Ballad horn to Metzler
- 1881 move to #42 Great Marlborough St.
- 1885 ad for Metzler & Co., #42 Great Marlborough, music publishers and makers of military and brass band instruments
- 1886 Frank Chappell dies
- 1893 incorporate as Metzler & Co., Ltd.; #42 G.M.
- 1895 now at #40-43 G.M.
- 1911 now just #42 G.M.
- 1920 move to #142 Charing Cross St.
- 1929 move to #14 Rathbone Place
- 1931 company now owned by J. B. Cramer
- 1936 move to #139 New Bond St. W1

Brass instruments should be dated using the name and street address changes. Information from The New Langwill Index. Photo 1 NMM, 2-4 auctions, 5-7 Horn-u-copia.net

